Examiner, Art Unit 2159

REASONS FOR ALLOWANCE

1. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: The prior art of record fails to teach or disclose the following features, in any reasonable combination:

A system, comprising:

a server providing a web page accessible by customers;

a storage device storing a program;

a processor in communication with said storage device, said processor operative with said program to:

receive a conditional purchase offer including an offer unit price from a customer utilizing said web page for purchasing goods or services; receive a payment identifier specifying a financial account for use in providing guaranteed payment for said goods or services if said conditional purchase offer is accepted; compare said conditional purchase offer with seller inventory and pricing information to determine if said conditional purchase offer is acceptable;

if said conditional purchase offer is unacceptable, transmit a rejection of said conditional purchase offer to the customer; and take an action to deter the customer from submitting multiple conditional purchase offers for said goods or services, wherein said action includes restricting submission of additional conditional purchase offers containing a progressively increasing unit price following an initial conditional purchase offer rejection.

The most closely related art are Fisher (US Patent No. 5,835,896) and Bigus (US Patent No. 6,401, 080). Fisher generally discloses a online system for performing auctions between multiple parties. The system of Fisher allows for a user to bid on inventory, i.e. provide a conditional purchase offer, provide a method of payment, and determine the acceptability of the bid for the goods or services for sale. Bigus discloses an online negotiation system which allows the users to negotiate effectively by making/rejecting offers and counter offers. The cited art of record fails to teach or reasonably suggest, "take an action to deter the customer from submitting multiple conditional purchase offers for said goods or services, wherein said action includes restricting submission of additional conditional purchase offers containing a progressively increasing unit price following an initial conditional purchase offer rejection."

2. Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
